Places of Interest:

1 Naritasan Shinshoji Temple (成田山新勝寺)

Naritasan Shinshoji Temple is the headquarters of the Shingon Sect's Chizan School, built by Archbishop Kanjo in 940. One of three major temples in the Kanto area dedicated to Fudomyo-o, the god of fire, Shinshoji is visited by more than 13 million worshippers each year. The temple also provides pleasant tourist surroundings; right behind the Hondo main building. Naritasan Park spreads over 165,000m² with breathtaking natural beauty through the four seasons. Situated along the front approach to the temple is Narita Tourist Pavilion, which provides a visual history of Japanese vehicles including the time-honored Dashi floats featured in the Narita Gion Festival.

Omote Sando Street (成田山表参道)

When you visit Narita Temple, one of the enjoyable experiences is a walk on the long approach to the temple. It is pleasant to walk, sighting many shops and restaurants on the approach, including long established shops, some of which have more than 100-year histories, and 60 eel restaurants. These shops offer a wide variety of souvenirs, including Yokan (traditional Japanese sweet), Teppozuke (pickled vegetables) and Tsukudani (small fish boiled in sweetened soy sauce), as well as local sake.

2 Naritasan Calligraphy Museum (成田山書道美術館)

This museum is in the corner of refined Naritasan park inside of Naritasan Shinshoji Temple. Mainly exhibits the works written from the end of Edo period to the present age. Hours: 9:00-16:00 (enter by 15:30) Closed: Mon. (open when Mon. falls on a national holiday and closed the following day) Admission: ¥500

3 Boso-no-Mura Museum (房総のむら)

Boso-no-Mura is a 32-ha park of historic relics set in a vast red pine forest. The entire park area is spotted with a total of 120 tumuluses, large and small, which is called the Ryukakuji Kofungun tumulus cluster. The park also has a historic materials library and contains the main auditorium of the former Imperial Academy's Elementary School, an Important Cultural Property.

In adjacent Boso-no-Mura area, an open-air museum, you can see actual-size reproductions of a farmer's house, a Samurai swordsman's residence and other past Japanese structures. In one corner of Boso-no-Mura, you'll find a soba noodle plant where soba kneaders will demonstrate their traditional noodle-making skills for you. If you want, you can knead soba dough and cut it into noodles all on your own! (Please make a reservation in advance. Tel: 0476-95-3333)

Hours: 9:00-16:30 Closed: Mon. & Dec. 25-Jan. 1 Admission: ¥300 Noodle making: ¥1,400-¥1,600 / group (1-5 persons) Access from Narita Airport: 30 min. by taxi (approx. ¥5,000), or 10 min. by JR rapid train "Airport Narita" to Narita Sta., then 20 min. by Chiba Kotsu Bus to Ryukakujidai Ni-chome Bus Stop and 8-min. walk.

4 Narita Tourist Pavilion (Narita Kankokan) (成田観光館) Tel: (0476)24-3232

This pavilion uses audio-visual media to provide visitors with useful information concerning places of interest. Among the things that visitors should not miss are the many exhibits showing aspects of Japanese tradition and culture such as the two festival floats used in the Narita Gion Festival. The fashions and customs of Edo-period visitors to Naritasan Shinshoji Temple are also displayed.

Visitors can enjoy a Japanese traditional "Tea Ceremony" in English on every Thursday (10:30-12:00), and also an entertainment entitled "A Taste of Japanese Culture for You" which features flower arrangement, kimono dressing, calligraphy, origami and koto playing on 3rd Tuesday* (10:00-12:00, 13:00-15:00) Admission: Free *In case the Monday before the 3rd Tuesday falls on a national holiday it will be cancelled. Access: about 10-min. walk along Omote Sando Street from JR Narita Sta. Hours: 10:00-18:00 (Jun.-Sep.), 9:00-17:00 (Oct.-May) Closed: Mon. (Tue. when Mon. falls on a national holiday) & Dec. 29-31

5 AEON Mall Narita (イオンモール成田)

This shopping mall is one of the most convenient centers in Japan, as it is possible to shop there when staying overnight on the way to Narita Airport. Hours: 10:00–22:00 Access: 10-min. by direct bus from Keisei Narita Sta. Central Gate Bus Stop No.6 (fare: ¥210)

[6] Sogo Reido Sanctuary (Toshoji Temple) (宗吾霊堂・東勝寺)

Sogo Reido Sanctuary is also called Meisho-zan Toshoji Temple. This temple is said to have been dedicated by Sakanoue-no Tamuramaro. He wanted to appease the souls of the war dead of the battles he experienced as the commander-in-chief of an expeditionary force to which Emperor Kammu (781–806 A.D.) dispatched him to annihilate his opponents in eastern Japan. The temple has been called by another name, “Sogo Reido,” ever since villagers enshrined Kiuchi Sogoro (later called Sogo-sama, the Hon-Sogo), who had been executed together with his wife and four children in the middle of the 17th century for directly petitioning the shogun. Sogo Goichidaikan Hall exhibits dolls, and Sogo Reihoden exhibits mementos of this brave village headman who succeeded in convincing the shogun to reduce the excessively heavy tax levied on his villagers in exchange for giving his and his family’s lives. 6 min. from Keisei-Narita Sta. to Sogo-Sando Sta. on Keisei Line and 15-min. walk.

[7] National Museum of Japanese History (国立歴史民俗博物館)

This museum is Japan’s only national museum for historical science, archaeology and folklore. It houses approximately 200,000 items for the study of these fields. All exhibits are well-arranged in chronological order from the primitive ages through ancient times and on to the modern period, providing a systematic view of Japan’s history, culture and folklore. Surrounded with abundant greenery, the museum is located in Sakura Joshi Park, renowned for its marvelous cherry blossoms in spring. Hours: 9:30–17:00 (Mar.–Sep.), –16:30 (Oct.–Feb.) Closed: Mon. (open when Mon. falls on a national holiday and closed the following day) & Dec. 27–Jan. 4 Admission: ¥420 Access from Narita Airport: 20 min. by Keisei Line to Keisei-Sakura Sta. (fare: ¥460) and 15-min. walk or 5 min. by bus. For more information: <http://www.rekihaku.ac.jp/english/index.html>
